MILE MARKER

As advances in healthcare continue to shift the journey forward, Mile Marker provides a familiar touchpoint along the paths of patients and providers—from reception areas, to clinical spaces, to workspaces, and more. It's this constancy and utility—from front door to back, from public to private areas, and from clinical to respite spaces—that earned Mile Marker its name.

For 70+ years, Carolina's family-owned business has focused on ensuring that people who design healthcare spaces, and those who work and heal in those environments, feel better in our care. Mile Marker is a part of that promise.

From public to patient spaces including waiting areas, caregiver stations, and respite areas, our precise engineering and high-quality construction ensure support for hardworking environments from installation throughout the life of the product. The breadth of style and smart design across multiple applications offer easier space planning and design cohesion.

Mile Marker offers single-source, coordinated storage and boundary solutions at important waypoints in the healthcare journey—check-in casework, waiting rooms, nurses stations, exam rooms, storage lockers, infusion bays, private offices, and respite spaces—specifically designed for the rigorous demands of healthcare environments.

On a typical day shift, the average nurse spends 19% of his or her time documenting patient records.¹

SIMPLICITY IN PLANNING, DURABILITY IN USE

We understand the challenges of planning for healthcare environments. That's why we've designed Mile Marker for simplicity—in planning and in use. Straightforward designs, flexible configurations, and fast-tracked design support—from specification through installation—are the foundation of our promise to healthcare planners.

Smart design and breadth of style make it easy to plan, specify, and install coordinated storage and boundary solutions across applications and throughout the facility.

HUMAN-CENTERED DESIGN

Casegoods should do more than simply store artifacts. They should improve the experiences of people—making work easier, supporting an environment for healing, and lending comfort at essential touch points along the paths of patients and providers.

Mile Marker is designed on deep research into the daily needs of healthcare workers: the need to work with efficiency, to reduce fatigue, and to maximize care. Human-centered design supports the natural flow of work, making work safer and more satisfying for healthcare providers.

Integrated locker options provide ample and accessible storage solutions for caregiver and multiple use spaces. Ergonomically designed and available in various sizes, styles, and finishes to compliment any healthcare environment.

In a 12-hour period, healthcare workers spend only 1.1–3.3 hours in patient rooms; the majority of time is spent walking between patient rooms and nursing stations. Smart design allows them to focus on their primary responsibility: the patient.
